OVERVIEW.

Delivered in spring 2024 by renowned Pendennis shipyard in Falmouth, UK, FOX is a 34.9m (114.3ft) explorer yacht that perfectly blends capability with refined luxury. Built with a steel hull and aluminium superstructure to RINA commercial classification, she's engineered for serious adventure but without sacrificing the comfort of you and your guests.

FOX is aptly named after one of Falmouth's most famous sons: Robert Were Fox the Younger. He was a 19th-century scientist who enabled exploration by inventing a compass that measured magnetic dip at sea in high latitudes – a compass that ultimately guided the expedition that discovered the South Pole. The associations between Fox, Falmouth, and exploration are ones that resonate strongly in one of the very few genuine explorer yachts of this size.

With an interior designed by Q London, which offers a bright, modern 'beach house' feel, motor yacht FOX welcomes 10 guests in five cabins. As well as her full-beam owner's suite designed for your privacy, key features in FOX's interiors include a sky lounge and wine cellar leading to a 495sqft terrace with BBQ and panoramic dining. Walkaround side decks also connect to a forward lounge above the bridge.

Beyond this, her striking exterior design is muscular and practical, with the 1,114sqft main deck aft allowing her to carry an exceptional array of equipment: two 24.6ft (7.5m) tenders, watertoys, amphibious vehicles and submersibles, all launched by two 2.5T SWL deck cranes – carrying capacity usually unheard of in a yacht of this size. With the toys launched, the main deck aft has endless possibilities for relaxation and entertainment. The space includes a DJ station, open-air dining, and a bar with optional shade from awnings.

Powered by twin Caterpillar C18 ACERT engines, Pendennis' FOX cruises comfortably at 12 knots with a 3,000nm range at 9 knots, and reaches a top speed of 14.5 knots. CMC Marine stabilisers ensure the comfort of you and your loved ones both underway and at anchor.
