

An aerial photograph of a white Burgess Aladina yacht sailing on a deep blue sea. The yacht features three decks with various outdoor seating areas, including sofas, armchairs, and tables. A red flag is flying from the stern. The name 'ALADINA' and 'GEORGE TOWN' are visible on the stern. The word 'FRIENDSHIP' is overlaid in large white letters across the upper part of the image.

APERÇU.

FRIENDSHIP, a 35.1m (115ft) Benetti designed by Stefano Righini with interiors by François Zuretti, is the embodiment of this principle. Built in Italy and quietly refined over time, she offers a charter experience defined by poise, balance and considered luxury.

Her interior spaces are warm and graceful, with rich woods, subtle textures and a layout that flows effortlessly. The main deck lounge invites conversation or calm, surrounded by windows that soften the boundary between interior and sea. Every guest cabin, five in total, for up to 10 guests is a retreat of its own, with en suite privacy and a quiet sense of completion.

Outdoors, the sun deck offers both shelter and sun, a jacuzzi tucked into its forward edge, framed by panoramic views. Al fresco dining aft is generous yet relaxed, while the foredeck creates a more intimate setting a place for a quiet drink or simply watching the light shift across the water. From the swim platform, the sea is never far away.

With a top speed of 16 knots and a range of 2,500nm at 12 knots, she is both capable and composed. Powered by twin MTU engines and cared for by a dedicated crew of seven, FRIENDSHIP is a yacht for those who move through the world with quiet confidence.

She doesn't try to impress. She simply leaves a lasting impression.
