

GIOIA

OVERVIEW.

GIOIA 43m (141ft) by name, joy by nature. If you're looking to charter a brand new tri-deck yacht with a distinctive character and a touch of refinement, it's worth taking a close look at this one. Her exterior style is a tasteful blend of classic and modern lines and her spacious, luxe interior follows suit. Bright and welcoming, warm and chic, you'll instantly feel at home on board. She's designed to host up to 12 guests in five cabins with service from a crew of nine.

With large outside spaces on three levels, GIOIA is ideal for a group of guests who want a variety of social areas to gather together and some intimate nooks in which to relax alone. The sundeck is a mezzanine configuration with a raised sunbathing zone up front where the large square jacuzzi pool is flanked by sunpad cushions and the view over the sea is superb. Moving aft and a few steps down, there's a lounge in cool, deep shade, a sit-up bar, then more day beds and loungers astern. The upper aft deck has separate areas devoted to lounging and dining, while the main deck aft has a sociable cluster of armchairs, sofas and day beds.

The main deck lounge is a definite highlight with a smart and chic yet easygoing charm. There is good separation between the lounge and dining areas and huge plate glass windows let in plenty of natural light. One deck up, the skylounge is a snug but spacious living room with an easy flow out onto the upper aft deck.

The master suite has pride of place at the forward end of the main deck. Its main cabin is a full-beam space with big windows on both sides and splendid sea views from the central king size bed. There's a separate dressing room and lounge area, plus a white marble en suite bathroom with a rain room shower. The other four cabins are all on the lower deck – two queen size doubles and two twins with extra pullman bunks. All cabins have their own private en suite bathroom.

An inventory of her tenders and watersports toys is available on request.
